"BITCH" CASSIDY ROBBED S. P. TRAIN

Chance Remark of Bandit Leads Railroad Officials to This Belief.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, April 18.—That "Bitch" Cassidy and his gang of the Wyoming "hole in the wall" country held up Southern Pacific passenger train No. 10 at Forto Costa yesterday. Is the general expression of belief of local railroad men, with the result that investigation along this theory will be carried on. The belief is based on a laughing remark made by one of the bandits just before they drove the detached engine from the train, to the effect that he guessed this trick would sort of surprise his old friend Whitney, meaning W. A. Whitney, superintendent of division between Oakland and Sacramento.

Whitney was formerly on the Wyoming branch of the Union Pacific, and at that time entered into an agreement with Cassidy and his gang by which they were not to molest trains on his division.

The robbed train arrived in Ogden three hours late this morning bearing no evidence of the thrilling experience. But few of the passengers were aware of the holdup until after it was over. E. W. Vance of Oklahoma was a passenger on the train who witnessed the activity of the bandits from his Pullman window. He says that several of the mail sacks stolen were so heavy that the efforts of the combined trio were necessary to hoist them onto the engine tender.

The robbers made off at great speed and handled the ponderous passenger engine as though thoroughly acquainted with its mechanism.

A UNIVERSAL FOOD

Following Nature's Footsteps.

"I have a boy, two years old, weighing forty pounds, and the food he has been raised on Grape-Nuts and milk. This is an ideal food and evidently furnishes the elements necessary for a baby as well as for adults. We have used Grape-Nuts in large quantities and greatly to our advantage. It is a food that is pre-digested in the process of manufacture; that is, the starch contained in the wheat and barley is transformed into a form of sugar by the same method as this process is carried out in the human body, that is, by the use of moisture and long exposure to moderate warmth, which grows the remarkable change from starch to sugar.

Therefore, the most delicate stomach can handle Grape-Nuts and the food is quickly absorbed into the blood and tissue, certain parts of it going directly to building and nourishing the brain and nerve centers.

Turner had a few minutes before married a young lady from a nearby town and was just boarding the train for Salt Lake. It is said he has a wife somewhere in Minnesota, who is at the present time suing for a divorce. In fact, it was stated that the proceedings that were here to be served that gave the officers knowledge of his bigamous intentions. He was brought to Blackfoot and placed in jail pending a hearing. He stoutly denies any wrong intentions and claims it is a mistake. The rightful Mrs. Turner will probably come to Idaho to prosecute.

TO SUPPLY LARGE ACREAGE

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Provo, April 18.—The Provo Reservoir company's irrigation system was formally opened today in the presence of about 500 citizens. Among those who came down from Salt Lake and the north were President and Mrs. Joseph F. Smith, President and Mrs. John Henry Smith, Heber J. Grant, Mrs. Susa Y. Gates, A. G. Glaucue and W. D. Candland, the state land board, Mrs. W. D. Candland, Mayor James T. Gardner of American Fork, Mayor Edward Southwick of Lehi, Mayor A. E. Cooper of Pleasant Grove, President C. Chipman, President Abel J. Evans, Dr. G. L. Struwick, W. S. Evans, George A. Child and F. W. Kirkham.

EXERCISES ON HOTEL LAWN.

The exercises were held on the lawn of the Helms hotel, President Joseph B. Keeler presiding. The B. Y. U. band under the direction of Prof. Sauer, rendered several fine selections, and the B. Y. U. choir, under the direction of Prof. C. Lund, sang "For the Strength of the Hills We Bless Thee." Invocation was offered by Abel J. Evans, followed with singing by the B. Y. U. choir. President Joseph B. Keeler then delivered an address, reviewing some of the history and purposes of the undertaking.

Music was rendered by the B. Y. U. band, and brief speeches, eulogistic of the man who conceived and carried forward the reservoir project to its present stage of completion, and encouraging to the benefits that would be derived by the community through the work, were made by President Joseph B. Keeler, Heber J. Grant, Mayor James T. Gardner, Mayor Edward Southwick, Mayor A. E. Cooper, Mayor Don C. Strong, Morgan Evans, S. L. Chipman, J. William Knight, A. C. Lund, George H. Brimhall and Joseph B. Keeler. At the close of the exercises the crowd moved to the dam, about 300 feet below the hotel, where the dedicatory prayer was offered by President Joseph B. Keeler. The headgate was raised by President Joseph F. Smith and the water started on its fruitifying course and in twenty minutes had passed through its mile and a half of canals and tunnels, flumes and siphons and emptied into the Blue cliff canal on the north side of the canyon at Olmsted.

PURPOSES OF PROJECT.

The Provo Reservoir company was incorporated in 1908 with the following directors: Joseph B. Keeler, Joseph B. Keeler, Stephen L. Chipman, J. William Knight, George H. Brimhall, Abel John Evans, James C. Jensen, and David A. Broadbent. The purpose of the company is to supply water for the irrigated lands in the northern part of Utah county, extending from the mountains south-east of the mouth of Provo canyon, westerly below the foothills to the "point of the mountain" and thence southward, from which point the water can be taken by gravity to Draper in the south end of Salt Lake valley.

The amount of land that can be covered by this project is about 10,000 acres, a part of which is now in use for farming, but the greater part has never been brought under cultivation.

Work Started Year Ago.

Work on the diverting dam or intake, and the distributing system commenced September 1, 1909. The intake is opposite Carter's station, near the mouth of Provo canyon, where a cement dam is constructed, across the river. The water is diverted to the south side of the river, and conducted down the canyon in an earthen canal, ten feet wide at the bottom and four feet deep, for a distance of 2,000 feet, then it passes through a rock tunnel six feet for 1,100 feet, and from the outlet of the tunnel through a steel flume for 2,000 feet into a 250-foot rock tunnel. The water then flows through a 5-foot redwood siphon which carries it across the river to the north side of the canyon, near Olmsted. The siphon is 100 feet long and from that into the old Blue cliff canal which has been secured by the company. This canal has been extended and enlarged and carries the water two miles farther, along which distance it is distributed.

The cost so far has been about $75,000, and it is probable the system will cost, when completed, including the reservoir of the lakes at the head of Provo river, $500,000.

CURFEW LAW IS CRUALLY ENFORCED

Crusade to Keep Children Off Streets Starts Wednesday.

Volunteers will be called for within a few days to work with the police department, the juvenile court officers and the Woman's League of Salt Lake in a strict enforcement of the curfew law and to rid the streets of young boys and girls after 9 o'clock at night. The crusade will start Wednesday night, April 20.

This plan was decided upon yesterday afternoon at a hastily called conference between Mrs. Olive Haven, president of the Woman's League, Chief of Police Sam M. Barlow and Judge Alexander McMaster of the juvenile court. Both Chief Barlow and Judge McMaster agreed that something would have to be done to keep the children off the streets of Salt Lake at night, and all determined a decided blow would have to be struck for the benefit of the young boys and girls of the city.

Starting at 9 o'clock Wednesday night police officers, officers of the juvenile court and specially appointed officers will commence the work by taking in hand every boy and girl who appears to be 15 years old or younger. For the first three nights the young people will be taken to their homes, where it is planned to tell careless mothers some plain facts about the proper care of children. After that the children found on the streets will be placed under arrest and sent to the juvenile court for correction of the street-walking habit.

The Woman's league has been considering the matter for some time and appointed Mrs. Havens as a committee of one to take the matter up with the police department. In that matter it has been done. Chief Barlow suggested the conference with Judge McMaster, and the three got together yesterday.

B. Y. U. students and other officials of the curfew law will be strictly enforced. Just how many volunteers will be brought into action is not known, but it is hoped that a sufficient number can be secured to meet the needs of the situation.

It is pointed out that on the streets of Salt Lake every night are hundreds of boys and girls of tender years who are loafing about and doing mischief in the moving picture shows, at dances and other places the same condition is found, and it is now proposed to bring to a sudden end. It was thought best not to arrest the young people the first night, but if this treatment fails more serious results will follow.

REQUISITION IS HONORED

The application for requisition was made to Governor Brady by T. B. Mack, clerk of the Idaho state court. Clark was arrested in Salt Lake on April 13. Clark is alleged to have stolen 6,000 cigars from a purveyor of same month, and was arrested in Boise for selling cigars without a license and on suspicion of being the Tacoma thief. With this he saw his way out of the jail and is now in Salt Lake police several days later.
